Notes on how to hang your submitted entry

- To ensure your work is safe to hang and to protect it from damage, you must affix a 10mm 'D Ring' on either side of the frame. 'D Rings' are available at hardware stores, art suppliers and your many discount shops & come in a variety of sizes. 10mm is the preferred size.

- You will need a screwdriver, a tape measure, a pencil, 'D Rings' & strong framing wire.
- Measure approximately a third of the distance from the top to bottom of your frame. Mark the spot and screw in your 'D Ring' with the 'D' curve pointing to the centre of the frame. Use a self-tapping screw to secure the 'D Ring'. Repeat the process on the other side of your frame. Ensure that 'D Rings' are at least 10mm so they will accept the hooks used in the hanging system is use at the show.

- The framing wire must be firmly attached through the 'D rings' and secured with a knot and twisting of the wire around itself. Allow a bit of play with the attached wire to allow the hangers fingers to get behind it. It's very difficult to hang the work when the wire is too tight!

- String is not acceptable. Eyehooks are also not acceptable as they have the potential to damage other artist's works.
